SUCCESS OF NEW UNIT PLAN AT SEBAGO WOHELO

Starting with the Counsellor-Training Period, which lasted for a week before the opening of camp, and ending on the twenty-fourth of August, the new Specialized Unit system was successful far beyond our fondest dreams. Even in the early formulation days the plan received only one criticism, and that was in regard to the specialization cutting out other activities. The first summer has proved that this is not the case. The girls in each group received far more enthusiastic instruction in their own group than they had ever received before, and at the same time the entire camp and its activities were open to all in the afternoon. It meant the elimination of afternoon schedules: the girls spent their time as they saw fit. There were enough horses so that girls could ride any or all afternoons; in fact, there were days on end when all the horses were not used. This same freedom of choice was followed through in all the groups. Many of the girls outside of the Sailing Unit received as much instruction and became as able sailors as the girls in the Sailing Unit. The one criticism which was brought forward before the summer started was more than disproved.

Obviously, some of the groups are more popular than others, so that it would be possible for the camp to increase some of them beyond the limits of fifteen. However, the camp has definitely decided to live up to our old ideal of fifteen, and each group will be limited to this number, in spite of the number of applicants. Eventually, Sebago Wohelo will be far more beneficial to its campers if it can offer a balanced program and a balanced group of contacts. If one group were allowed to grow in size, it would throw other groups into insignificance and defeat the ideals of a balanced camp.

No new units will be started for 1935, but one group will be slightly changed. Instead of an Arts and Crafts Unit, or "Colony" as it was called, there will be a Metal-Craft Unit. Arts and Crafts seemed rather hazy in its purpose, and it seemed advisable to concentrate on the one activity which has always been more popular than the others. Pottery and weaving will be continued, but more as a side line than as a specialty. In the metal work the girls will find an unlimited field for those who are ambitious along this line.

TWO NEW NIMBLETS FOR SAILING UNIT

Two new Cape Cod Nimblets are being ordered for the Sailing Unit, making five in all. This will make it possible for the entire unit to sail at the same time, and of course it will increase the interest in racing. During the after-camp sailing trip some experiments were carried out with formation sailing, and the results were so satisfactory that it will be included in the 1935 program. With five boats, the maneuvers will be loads of fun, and spectacular for the spectators.

1935 TUITION FEES

The matter of tuition fees has been a difficult one to decide the past few years. With a decrease in cost, a reduction was logical, but now that prices have risen and are apt to go higher, it is equally logical for the tuition fees to increase. However, the camps have decided to keep them at the 1934 levels, with the exception of the Sailing Unit in Sebago Wohelo, which is to be increased twenty-five dollars. It has been found that the elaborate equipment in this group necessitates this slight increase.

THE 1935 TUITION FEES WILL BE AS FOLLOWS:

Tiny Wohelo	$250.
Timanous	$325.
Little Wohelo	$325.
Sebago Wohelo:
Metal Craft Unit	$350.
Dancing Unit	$350.
Music Unit	$350.
Riding Unit	$375.
Sailing Unit	$375.

WINTER ADDRESS

Mr. and Mrs. J. Halsey Gulick
103 Carrington Avenue
Providence, R. I.

IMPROVEMENTS AT TIMANOUS

There has been daily activity at Timanous during the past six weeks, not the sort of activity, however, which would be expected during the summer. In the first place, the old lily pond in the boat cove has literally vanished. The old bridge has been torn down, and the entire outside ridge of land has been removed. Clear water now washes right through the lily pond onto the main shore. It took a crew of men many days to accomplish this work, as it meant working waist deep in the water most of the time, and if you remember the pond, you will remember what kind of water it was. Over thirty large stumps were blown up with dynamite, and the pieces dragged ashore. The undertaking was an ambitious one, but it has made a greater improvement in the appearance of the camp than anything which has been done in ten years.

Besides the removal of the lily pond, a great deal of clearing has been done by the lake, a new tennis court has been completed alongside the old one, together with new backstops and wire, and the Robin Hood Barn and Headquarters have been painted.

Dave Crockett, the caretaker, has worked every day since camp closed, and he can hardly wait for the Skipper, counsellors and boys to return and see the changes that have been made. Of course, Dave hasn't done all the work himself, as it necessitated a large crew, but he has a personal interest which would be difficult to find in most helpers.

NEW BOAT-HOUSE

A new boat-house is being built at Boulder Dock. The foundation and crib-work have been completed, and the construction of the house itself will be started as soon as the lake freezes over. The design calls for a two-story structure, the lower part to house the Migis and the upper part a sleeping cabin for eight or ten girls. The location of the old boat-house on Sivad Point has always been inconvenient, and it has meant that the Migis has not been used as often as it might have been. In the new location the boat can be out on the lake in two or three minutes.

The location of the units for 1935 has not been settled, but the upper part of the boat-house, together with the Bent Nail and the double log-cabin, will conveniently house a unit of fifteen girls and five counsellors. The boat-house will probably be the most popular cabin in the unit, as it will be right over the water. Undoubtedly the girls in the boat-house will ask for permission to drop a line in the water from their windows and fish during rest periods.

RIDING RING IMPROVED

The Riding Ring next to the Farm, which has not been used for a number of years, has been put in first class condition. A crew of men have been working since the close of camp, and the old ring has been so transformed that it will hardly be recognized when the girls return next summer. An entire ledge of rock has been removed by dynamite, and the circle has

NIMBLETS OR CHRIS-CRAFT AT TIMANOUS?

Sailing was such a popular activity at Timanous this past summer that it was tentatively decided to buy two more Cape Cod Nimblets for 1935. However, the camp also needs a good motor-boat, and it will be impossible to purchase both during the same year. At the present time, Halsey and the Skipper are undecided. If they do not buy the Nimblets, they will buy a small Chris-Craft Runabout, which makes twenty-five miles an hour. If any of the Timanous boys have a choice in the matter, it would help if they would write Halsey or the Skipper and let them know. A few letters might turn the decision one way or the other.

AFTER-CAMP SAILING TRIP

On August 24th, Halsey, Den Bancroft, Fran Green, John Sutor, Nono Bancroft, Mildred Boyden, Frances Findley, Helen Jaynes, Charlotte and June Robinson, Tom Findley, Nathan Oakes, Frank Fleischman and Ben Wallace left the Portland Yacht Club in the four Cape Cod Nimblets and a motor tender for a week's sail on Casco Bay. This was the first after-camp trip of the sort that has ever been attempted, but its success will mean its continuation as an annual event for years to come. Next summer there will be five Nimblets at Wohelo and possibly three at Timanous, which will make it possible to increase the number who will be able to make the trip.

As luck would have it, it rained the first day out, and the wind died down to a dead calm, so it was necessary to tie behind the motor tender and tow to our first camping ground, an island just outside of Portland. The first day was a pretty uncomfortable one, sitting in the pouring rain and finally landing and cooking supper over an open fire, with the rain beating down and making everything a little soggy. During the entire summer there was hardly any rain at camp, but it caught up during this trip. At the time it seemed most unfortunate, but as we look back on the seven days, the experiences in the rain will probably stand out as more important than the beautiful days in the sun. At the time there was no grumbling, but on some of the cold, rainy evenings the fire was most welcome, and the warm beds felt like downy quilted mattresses. Certainly the campers who went on the trip passed all necessary honors of sleeping in the rain and keeping dry.

The trip turned out to be somewhat more pretentious than originally outlined. The plans went smoothly, in spite of the rain, and we sailed right through Casco Bay, passed the Kennebec River, and spent the night on the Isle of Springs in Boothbay Harbor. Favorable winds prevailed on the return trip, which took two days, giving us time to spend a night and a day on Basket Island near Falmouth. Here we made up for some lost sleep, practiced sailing in formation, fished, and dug clams. Believe it or not, we consumed nearly a bushel of steamed clams in one meal, just as an appetizer! I don't think fourteen people could have eaten more in one meal.

Tentative plans for next summer have been made. One of the islands will be selected for headquarters, and a day and overnight trip will be made from this place. With more people and more boats, it would be very difficult to make the various destinations on schedule. Even on this trip it was necessary to tow the boats on a number of occasions when the wind deserted us.

WILD LIFE AT CAMP

During the fall months, the wild life around camp is far more in evidence. Yesterday five partridges flew down beside the big camp office and stayed there more than an hour, and it is not unusual to slow up the car on the way out of camp in order to avoid running over one. The loons swim right into the cove, and wild duck frequently feed on the shores of Little Wohelo. Some of the after-campers went part way up the Songo River the other day and caught twenty-five fish, enough for a number of meals. During the trip we saw two bald-headed eagles, a great blue heron, ten black duck, two muskrats, and an almost unlimited number of smaller birds. We haven't actually seen any deer but their tracks are in evidence in the soft earth at Timanous.

TIMANOUS ALUMNI NEWS

Just before camp opened, Pete Raycroft flew up to Migis with his bride and spent his honeymoon there. They were married on June 11th in Princeton. Mrs. Raycroft was Stella McReavy, of Princeton.

Since camp closed, another honeymoon couple have been here. Johnny Dean and his wife, the former Barbara Weir, of Woodbury, New Jersey, had dinner at the girls' camp and visited the boys' camp. They were married on September 15th, at Christ Church, Woodbury.

Barkie Hulett is in Basin, Montana, and spends his days up in the mountains digging for gold. He has promised to send the Skipper some gold ore and "other fancy minerals" for the Timanous collection.

Ed Chapman is teaching Fine Arts at the University of Colorado, in Boulder, Colo. He and his family live at 869 11th St., Boulder. Ed has two children, Frederick Kimball, aged two and a half, and Gretel, aged one.

Fritz Chapman is working for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in New York, and living at the Yale Club, Vanderbilt and 44th Streets.

TIMANOUS NEWS

Lee and the Skipper are settled at Deerfield for the winter, and Lee writes that "Dickie does Patty-cake and waves 'Bye-bye' and misses all the boys very much."

We understand that Chuck Whittemore bought a three months' old Boston Bull pup on the way home from camp, and has named him "Timanous" — "Timmy" for short.

Gerry Henderson writes that he ran a horse-show in Dublin, N. H., after camp, and that it was a very good one.

Nate Oakes made a trip to the World's Fair. Nate and Jack Beckwith are going to the same school this year.

Jack Beckwith went to Newport to the Yacht Races. He says the spinnaker of the "Rainbow" tore half way down and fell in the water, and it took just four minutes to put up a new one.

Don Waterman bumped into a truck with his Ford. Don got a cut over one eye and then proceeded to buy a new Ford.

John Sutor, "Super," is at the University of Vermont this winter.

Benny Bensen is a senior at Deerfield Academy.

The Skipper is coaching the Junior Varsity Soccer Team at Deerfield this year.

HALSEY AND DOTTIE TO LIVE IN PROVIDENCE

Halsey and Dottie are going to devote their entire time to the interests of the camp this winter. They have taken a small house in Providence and hope that all the campers will come to see them when they are near Providence.

Suzanne Armstrong (Mrs. Samuel E. M. Crocker, Jr.) was shown in a full-page photograph in the May Harper's Bazaar, wearing a black organza dress from Hattie Carnegie.

Margot Atkin was a delegate from the Chicago Junior League to the AJLA Conference at Toronto this summer.

Glenna Baldwin spent the summer at Lavallette, N. J.

Townsend Barnard (Mrs. Allen Mason, Jr.) and her three daughters spent the summer on Long Island Sound.

Betty Bingham (Mrs. Thomas V. Urmy) and her husband will live at 1213 Beacon St., Brookline, Mass. Dr. Urmy is connected with the Massachusetts General Hospital.

Eleanor Bingham was one of the bridesmaids in Sally Drew's wedding in June. Sally's husband, Robert Hurlbut, is the son of the late Dean Hurlbut of Harvard. He graduated from Harvard in 1934 and will study medicine there.

Katharine Bingham (Mrs. Henry P. Leverich) and her daughter are visiting her family in West Newton, Mass.

Lydia Bush-Brown (Mrs. Francis Head) and her husband went to Mexico for a month this summer.

Eileen Chater teaches First Grade at the Anne Page Memorial School in Wellesley. Nancy Cluff (Mrs. George Lascelle) and her husband will live at 205 Schenck Ave., Westbury, Long Island, N. Y.

Mary Lincoln Denison was the maid of honor in Julia Denison's wedding.

Betty Fort (Mrs. William Bull Church) and her husband will live at Nantucket, Mass.

Gertrude Fawcett won a blue ribbon at the Annual Horse Show of Miss Thomas' School in Norwalk.

Jennie Hodgson (Mrs. Edward K. Van Winkle) is shown with Walter Lippman in a picture in the Junior League Magazine for July. Jennie is the retiring president of the Atlanta Junior League. Both Jennie and Martha and their children spent the summer at their grandmother's place at "Greycourt," West Falmouth, Mass.

Martha Hodgson (Mrs. Rutherford L. Ellis) tied for first place in the Samuel French Play Contest for Junior League members in the Puppet and Marionette play class. Her manuscript — "Katinka and the Jewel Tree" — has been recommended for publication by Samuel French.

Hilda Ives (Mrs. John E. Palmer) was a delegate from the Portland, Maine, Junior League to the Conference in Toronto.

Eunice Jameson (Mrs. John Bayley Fox) and her husband will live at 77 Martin St., Cambridge, Mass., after November 1st.

Katherine Kuechle is in charge of the young people's room at the West Park Branch Library in Cleveland.

Eleanor Leavitt (Mrs. Henry Burrage) is living at Shore Acres, Cape Elizabeth, Me.

Francesca Leighton sailed on a North Cape Cruise on June 26th with other Vassar girls.

Peggy Powers (Mrs. Edward A. Wallace) and her family spent the summer at Grand Rapids and Silver Lake. They are returning to California this month.

Molly Radford has moved to 5541 Everett Avenue, Chicago. She spent her vacation in the West this summer.

Myla Raycroft (Mrs. Carl Hahner) and her husband spent the summer in Towaco, N. J.

Helen Mary Rowe's husband (Mr. Arnold Gingrich) is the editor of Esquire, the magazine for men which has attained such tremendous fame since its recent origin. Editing a magazine for men seems to us a stroke of genius, since it guarantees the whole feminine population as subscribers, and from the number of copies which we saw here at camp this summer, there's no age limit to the feminine subscribers.

Margaret Robinson (Mrs. Edward M. Deane) and her husband spent their honeymoon in Bermuda last April, at the same time that Helen Mary Rowe Gingrich and her husband were there.

Eleanor Schreyer spent the summer in Allentown, Pa., doing the practical work involved in a course of occupational therapy. This winter she will be at the Philadelphia School of Occupational Therapy and teach in a settlement in the evenings.

Betty Selkirk's husband (Mr. Charles R. Amberg) is professor of ceramic engineering at Alford, N. Y.

Janet Smith represented the Syracuse Junior League at the Toronto Conference of the Association of the Junior Leagues of America, Inc.

Edna Stahl is working in the office of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce.

Jane Shaw was one of the winners in the toy boat races at the annual miniature regatta for students at Miss Thomas' School in Norwalk.

Barbara Seely (Mrs. Hugh M. Shirey) has moved to 114 Rutgers Ave., Rochester, N. Y.

Frances Wells (Mrs. Robert C. Vroom) lives at 16 Vincent Place, Montclair, N. J.

Lycy Wendorff is teaching English at the Audubon Junior High School in Cleveland.

Riding Ring

been enlarged and leveled so that it will be more than adequate for all our needs. The problem of dust has always bothered in dry weather, but next summer a water connection is going to be made at the ring, and the surface will be sprinkled every morning. The close proximity of the ring will also simplify the riding, as it will be unnecessary for the riders to go out on the road until their riding has reached a sufficient degree of expertness.
