RACING SAILBOAT FOR SEBAGO WOHELO

The new sailboat for Sebago Wohelo is now almost completed. Captain Rounds has been working on it in the Proctor Academy Boat Shop during the winter, and he expects to be ready for launching by the middle of May. It is an eighteen-foot racing scow which will carry a sail of about two hundred square feet. Boats of this type are considered the fastest type of sailing craft known, and Captain Rounds fully expects it to trim everything on Sebago Lake this coming summer. It will be used by girls who have first proved their ability to handle the Nimblets; as, with its added speed, it is a far trickier boat to handle. It has two centerboards, two rudders, and it is decked over from bow to stern, with no cockpit. It will be sailed by a crew of three or four, but each member will have about twice as much to handle.

FOUR NEW ROWBOATS FOR TIMANOUS

Although Timanous has been well-equipped with boats, there has been a need for small, round-bottom row-boats which could be easily handled by even the smallest boys. Four such boats are now at camp ready to be put in the water as soon as the boys arrive. The boats are eight feet long and will carry three or four small boys, or two grown men. They are equipped to be used with two pairs of oars. All four boats were built in the Boat Shop at Proctor Academy.

SEBAGO WOHELO NEWS

Dottie, Halsey, and Gertrude had lunch with the Keighlers in Providence before the Providence reunion. Prissy Keighler, Roberta Raworth, Carol Smith and M. El Chamberlain were there too.

M. El Chamberlain has been visiting Pooh Raworth. At the time of the Boston reunion, Pooh and Prissy Keighler visited M. El.

Jean Cushing attended the Proctor banquet in Boston with one of the Proctor boys.

LITTLE WOHELO HOUSEBOAT COMPLETED

The new houseboat is now finished, and it is ready to be launched when the weather becomes warmer. The boat itself is painted green, with a white house and a red roof. The house is equipped with double-decker bunks and a small kitchen so the girls will be able to go on board during the afternoon and not only sleep on it but also cook their meals and return to camp the next day.

What shall we call the houseboat? Before camp opens, we hope a number of names will be suggested by girls who were at camp last summer. The final choice will not be made until camp opens, and the christening will take place on the Fourth of July.

1938 REUNIONS

Boston Tea Party

The Boston reunion was held as usual at the Junior League, at Zero Marlborough St. There were about a hundred campers, alumnae and friends present.

Of last summer's and the coming summer's Woheloites there were: Rebecca Berry, Barbara Boyden, Bob and Beebe Boyden, Mariella Boyden, Harriet Chamberlain, Mary Ellen Chamberlain, Patty Cummings, Jean Cushing, Gretchen Ferris, Joan Ferris, Mary Freeman, Susannah Freeman, Dorothy Garritt, Rosamond Gethro, Shirley Godwin, Dottie and Halsey Gulick, Priscilla Keighler, Inez Keller, Elizabeth Kurth, Joan Lewis, Anne Lindsey, Elizabeth Littell, Marge Littell, Jean McGay, Carol Merriam, Mary Janet Perkins, Gertrude Plaisted, Roberta Raworth, May Renolds, Charlotte Robinson, Elizabeth Rowse, and Beppy Wurst.

Of next summer's Timanous: Charles Rollins and James W. Rollins.

Of Wohelo alumnae: Katharine Alden, Molly Boyden, Betty Bull Freeman, Jean Halladay, Helen Jaynes, Peggy Jenks, Dottie Le Butt, Anne Montgomery, and Frances Weaver.

Of Timanous alumni: Bob Montgomery, Dick Ragle, and Haskell Schell.

Southport Tea

Mrs. Wilder Gutterson gave a tea for Halsey and Dottie at her home in Southport, Conn., to meet some Southport and Fairfield people who were interested in camp. Jane Shaw and Wilder Gutterson, Jr., were the only campers who could come, as the rest of the Southport campers and ex-campers were still away at boarding school.

Albany Dinner

The Albany reunion started with a dinner for old campers at the Albany Country Club. Dorothy Best, Olva and Jo Faust, Jane Godley, Halsey and Dottie Gulick, Polly Cooper Hamilton, Eleanor Kimmey, Ginny Lawson, Lila and Jean Latham, Eleanor Murphy, and Jan Stevens were there, and Mildred Bond, who is to be at camp this summer.

After dinner, about twenty interested friends and parents came in to see the movies and to talk about camp. Marge Howard arrived direct from Bryn Mawr, and Mary Jane Call Ferrell and her husband came in. Tirzah Thomas, who is to be at camp this summer, came with her family.

H

Marty Hedden (Mrs. Richard Congleton) has been nursing her children through chicken-pox and colds most of the winter.

Jenny Hodgson (Mrs. Edward K. Van Winkle) has been in Florida, as her son has been recuperating from pneumonia.

Marty Hodgson (Mrs. R. L. Ellis) has returned to Atlanta after a vacation in Florida. She has been doing a lot with marionettes for the Junior League in Atlanta, and says she made an opera singer whose eyes roll and mouth opens.

Mary Holmes is a case worker in the Syracuse Department of Public Welfare.

Betty Huestis is doing her marionettes in a new way now. She says it's an old Chinese custom. She wears black from head to foot, so that she doesn't show at all against a black backdrop and can be right out on the stage while she operates the puppets.

J

Peg Jenks has seen quite a bit of Molly Boyden in Wellesley, and ran into Buddy Vondermuhl there recently.

K

"Alaska," Edith Kamphorne, gave a talk on group singing at the National Convention of the Camp Directors Association.

Ruth Kilborn (Mrs. Donald Gribbin) was a co-chairman for the presentation of Cornelius Greenway's lecture in Portland, Me.

L

Ginny Lawson commutes from Kinderhook, N. Y., to St. Agnes School.

Louise Leland writes that since she is the first registered woman architect in Kentucky, people insist on looking on her as on something just out of the zoo.

Anna Lomas (Mrs. Karl Drew Hartzell) is the Wheaton College representative in Georgia.

Phyllis Lovejoy knows friends of Molly Boyden and Chottie Robinson at Wellesley.

M

Virginia Macomber has an apartment of her own in Providence since her mother moved to Marblehead. She is secretary-bookkeeper at the Metacomet Golf Club.

Muggins Mall's husband, Hutton Vignoles, is the architect who is doing the Wellesley swimming pool.

T

Molly Thacher (Mrs. Elia Kazan) broke into print in the New York Herald-Tribune recently in an article on the Group Theatre's future presentation of Irwin Shaw's play, "Quiet City." The Tribune said: "Director Harold Clurman and play reader Molly Thacher returned a week ago from a trip to Havana, during which they discussed the new Shaw work. The idea was to get away from the jangling telephones and intruding events which make creative effort impossible in the active theatre business." Molly's husband, Elia Kazan, is playing in "Golden Boy," after directing "Casey Jones." He has the part of Eddie Fuseli, and is, in the words of one of the other characters, "a dominant personality." He is on the Council of the Group Theatre.

W

Wapi (Mrs. John B. Sanborn) and her husband are doing over their house in Farmington, Conn.

Marie Wishart (Mrs. A. L. Whiton) is at last back on our "found list." Marie was married in 1931 and has a son almost six years old.

LOST, HOPELESSLY LOST

Every now and then, in a spring house-cleaning, we unearth a few dozen more names of alumnae who haven't been on our files for years and years. We love finding them, but it's no end depressing having only a name and no address. We like to think of ourselves as wonderfully efficient, and, while these alumnae were "lost" before we came into power, it still hurts our pride. We console ourselves somewhat mournfully with the fact that most of them are from twenty or more years ago, and that all but five are from ten or more years ago, but it brings a melancholy pleasure, at best. Can you help us, if only with a clue as to schools attended, or parents' address? Mary Brownell went up Bunker Hill recently.

Flit recuperated from her operation, in Chapel Hill, N. C. She is now back in Philadelphia.

Irene Fitch is studying to be a nurse at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital in Boston.

Mary and Susannah Freeman went skating at the Cambridge Skating Club three times a week this winter.

Fran Green took a pack trip into the mountains of the back country and down into the Borego Desert during her vacation from the Bishop School in La Jolla, California.

Priscilla Grindle is taking a camp activity course at Oberlin College this spring.

Sophie Ostlie kept an eye on Flit while Flit was in the hospital.

Ted Perrine showed up at the New York tea with two children from India, who were spending their Easter vacation with her.

Hippo came to the Boston tea with a wonderful sunburn, acquired in Nassau recently.

Rosalind Shaw visited Lydia Stone, and then Lydia visited Rosalind. Rosalind spent a week with Eleanor Richmond, too.

Lydia Stone is going to take riding lessons this spring.

Patty Wagner was sick for quite awhile after she got back from Bermuda.

WOHELO CHAIRS

There's encouraging news at last about the tiny handmade chairs which we give to the first child of each former camper. Fred Nichols, our explorer Stanley, braved the unexplored country of Texas and, with an interpreter, interviewed Jose Garza, the Mexican who makes them. Although Jo's letter to us seems to put our financial position in some doubt we have reassured him and think results will be forthcoming. Meanwhile, we've gotten a hundred chairs from the mountains of North Carolina just to tide us over, and since these are slightly bigger, we'll send them out at once to those "grandchildren" who have been growing all the time they've been waiting for chairs.

For your collection of Mexicaniana, we give you Jo's last letter sounding out our financial integrity:

Dear Mrs. J. Halsey Gulick I am writing you these few lines just to tell you about your order. Well I am writing you. Just to know if you want the order or not. I think the young man that was here told you about it. We are waiting your answer. So we can know by sure if you want it or not. We explain it all to the young man. I think he wrote to you already. Well if you like the price or not. Well tell us. Waiting for your answer. Please let us know. Write to us as possible as you can.

Yours' Truly, Jose Garza.

Tod Darkey goes to Friends' Seminary. This winter she has been studying metal craft and modern dancing.

Frankie Findley was on the honor roll at Wilson College, as well as on Student Government Council, Dramatic Club and Chemistry Club.

Prissie Green ran into Gee Gee Lee, sitting in the station, just before the end of her Easter vacation.

Mouse Hodgson recently sat in at a two-day conference of the Boston District of the American Student Union, in which she is taking an active part (not just sitting, we trust). She wrote that she had become fired with camp spirit because her roommate had just thrown a balsam pillow at her.

Jean Lee writes that whenever she wears her camp sweater at Bennington, people see the camp riding badge and Wohelo Bird and ask her whether or not she is of Indian ancestry.

Marge Littell received a sudden call to join the Miriam Winslow Dance Group in Pittsburgh, so she made a mad dash across the country by automobile, deserting her classes.

Marge Littell's sister, Elizabeth, is going to help Gertrude in the office at camp this summer.

Frickie Lyon is playing lacrosse this spring. She is to play the harp in the play "Deirdre" which the Wheeler School is to put on this spring.

Betsey MacColl was in New York during her Easter vacation.

Louise MacColl spent her Easter vacation at Wianno, Mass.

Marian Moses wrote that she couldn't get to the New York tea because an operation interfered. We don't know what it was, but we're glad she's well enough to write.

Fred Nichols saw Mattie in Philadelphia on his way south. He is spending a month near Albuquerque, N. M., where he is to be assistant archaeologist for the American Institute
